Who are we?

Your partner in productivity, through driving efficiency.

WORK SMARTER,
NOT HARDER."

- Allen F. Morgenstern

A highly relevant expression in today's volatile business environment. Let's produce more with less!

With deadlines to be met and quality to be assured, your company needs innovation and commitment behind it to grow. Staying in touch with market demands, remaining ahead of competitor activities, forever pioneering better processes. All necessary, all achievable with PPO.

Flexibility within your company's processes is essential in order to accommodate market fluctuations while a focus on core-competencies is just as crucial. Optimise your non-core functions and increase your flexibility whilst lowering your operating costs. All done by outsourcing your business's integral processes to PPO.

We bring efficiency and innovation. You get an incomparable market advantage.

PPO works in partnership with your business to achieve operational excellence and establish a minimum-input, maximum-output standard."

- Willie Du Preez, Managing Director

Why us?

We deliver the cutting edge in productivity.

The key to a successful outsourcing project is to work with a partner who is experienced and qualified to do the job, a partner who is reliable and market relevant and is driven to achieve your goals. We are a Level 1 B-BBEE contributor.

We have the national scale, flexibility and technological expertise to deliver this successfully and efficiently. Outsource your operational processes and human resource management simultaneously as an entire solution or focus on individual systems, depending on what's best for your business.

You now have the opportunity to be free of time and resource consuming day-to-day process management responsibilities.

Once a process is successfully outsourced,

our clients get more time

to explore new revenue streams, accelerate other projects and focus on their customers."

- Athol Holloway, Operations Manager – Gauteng

What are the benefits?

High performance output and goal driven results.

By outsourcing some of your operations, you could see a wealth of benefits:

- 1. Cost reductions – through process improvements, re-engineering and use of technologies that bring administrative and production costs under control.
- 2. Improved core business – with the day-to-day operations taken care of, your management team is free to spend more time building the company's core business.
- 3. Adapt to customer needs – providing the management team with flexible and scalable services to meet your customers' changing requirements.
- 4. Revenue increases – outsourcing non-core processes awards you the opportunity to focus on increasing sales, developing new products, expanding, and enhancing customer service and satisfaction.
